

I can't believe the government wants to jump in and tell a corporation what they can and can't broadcast. This is nothing but another attempt by the government to stifle free speech. What's next? I guess you will tell me I can't look up weather or traffic information on the internet either. My goodness. The only thing I can see you attacked is Playboy radio for fear that men/women will be driving with only 1 hand on the steering wheel.